Lake Worth Board Fails To Act On Charter Change

The Lake Worth City Commission was taken by surprise yesterday when Mayor Frank Wilkerson Jr. asked to postpone consideration of a proposed charter amendment that would place the city in a position to exempt part of its property from the $15,000 insurance requirement that is part of the city's current charter.

Wilkerson said the amendment would exempt from insurance requirements only the city's property that is not subject to public access.

The amendment was introduced by Commissioner Jack E. Reed, who said it was necessary to provide greater protection for the city's property.

But Wilkerson argued that the amendment would create a potential conflict of interest for the city's insurance company, which would be required to insure the city's property for less than the current $15,000 minimum.

Wilkerson also pointed out that the amendment would not provide any protection for the city's property that is subject to public access.

The amendment was tabled for further discussion at the next meeting of the commission.

Lantana Council Ends Rule Judge Must Sign Warrants

The Lantana City Council voted unanimously yesterday to end the requirement that all warrants issued by the city's police department must be signed by the judge who issued the warrant.

The council said the requirement was unnecessary and that it would result in a delay in the issuance of warrants.

The council also voted to eliminate the requirement that all warrants issued by the city's police department must be approved by the city attorney.

The council said the requirement was unnecessary and that it would result in a delay in the issuance of warrants.

Cuba Flouts Pact Against Atomic Arms

The Cuban government has flouted a pact against atomic arms by testing a new missile that could reach the United States within 30 minutes.

The pact was signed by the United States, Russia, and the United Kingdom in 1968.

The Cuban test was conducted yesterday in the province of Guantanamo.

The Cuban government said the test was a response to the United States' testing of a new missile that could reach Cuba within 30 minutes.

The United States said it was responding to the Cuban test by testing its own new missile.

GIs Urged To Desert

A GI who deserted from his unit in Vietnam yesterday was urged to return to his unit by his commanding officer.

The GI, who was a member of the 1st Infantry Division, had been on duty in Vietnam since April.

The GI's commanding officer said he had been warned that the GI was planning to desert.

Ford Eager To Produce

Ford Motor Company President William Clay Ford Jr. said today that the company is eager to produce a new model car that will be introduced next year.

Ford said the car, which will be called the "Ford Fusion," will be a compact car designed to appeal to the growing number of young drivers.

Ford said the car will be produced at the company's Dearborn plant in Michigan.

The Ford Fusion will be powered by a 2.0-liter turbocharged four-cylinder engine that will be available with a choice of front- or all-wheel drive.

Saturn Shot Is Scheduled

A test flight of the new Saturn rocket is scheduled for today at the Kennedy Space Center in Cape Canaveral, Florida.

The Saturn rocket, which will be used to launch the new International Space Station, is scheduled to lift off at 9:00 a.m. today.

The rocket will carry three crew members to the International Space Station, which will be launched using the Ariane 5 rocket.

The International Space Station is scheduled to be completed in 2010.

Alford First-Degree Murder Trial Ends With Hung Jury

A hung jury has been returned at the conclusion of the Alford first-degree murder trial.

Alford, a 23-year-old man, was convicted of first-degree murder in the shooting death of a 17-year-old boy in 1990.

The prosecution team was shocked by the hung jury, which came after two weeks of testimony.

The defense team argued that the state had not presented enough evidence to convict Alford of first-degree murder.

The trial will be rescheduled for a later date.

Wallace, Airs His Position On Running

RENO, Nev. (AP) — Democratic presidential candidate Gary B. Arnold will not run for re-election this year, Reno Mayor Bob Conley said today.

"If the party can work it out, we don't have to have another re-election campaign. We can probably save a lot of money," Arnold said today.

Conley said he and the other Reno City Council members are working with the city's finance department to determine the costs associated with a re-election campaign.

"We have to look at all of the costs involved," Conley said.
